

Voice as an Asset

Mississippi, go back to Alabama, go back to South Carolina, go back to Georgia, go back to Louisiana, go back to Mississippi, knowing that somehow this situation can and will be changed. Let us not wallow in grief and in怨, but let us be determined to face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That when a long line of American slaves, who were the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slaveholders, will look at each other and see that they have not been separated by the color of their skin but by the content of their character. I have a dream today. I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a state sweltering with the heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice. I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character. I have a dream that one day, even the state of Georgia, with its governor having his lips dripping with the words of interposition and nullification, will be able to join hands with little white boys and white girls as sisters and brothers. I have a dream that every valley shall be exalted, every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made smooth, and the way of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together. This is our hope. This is the faith that will enable us to hew out of the mountain of despair a stone of hope. With this faith we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to prison together, knowing that we will be free one day. This will be the day when all of God's children will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual, "Free at last, free at last, thank God almighty, that I am free at last." Land where my fathers died, land of the living and the dead, land where we are taking our citizenship today, and we hope to take it tomorrow, land where freedom is at last realized, if America is to be a great nation this must become true. So let freedom ring from the mountain peaks of New York. Let freedom ring from the heightening Alleghenies of Pennsylvania. Let freedom ring from the curvaceous slopes of California! But not only that, let freedom ring from Lookout Mountain of Tennessee! Let freedom ring from every hill and molehill of this great state of Mississippi. When this happens, when we allow freedom to ring, when we let it ring from every vantage point of this continent, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual. "Free at last! free at last! thank God almighty, that I am free at last!"
